2021 Honda Civic 4D Sedan EX Case Study

Friday, December 23, 2022.

The 2021 Civic EX edition is a great choice for those who like spacious interiors and unique designs. It combines the best of both worlds to increase driving pleasure.

What once was just a basic transportation option has blossomed into an affordable and desirable compact car to drive. With the 2021 Civic 4D Sedan EX, you never need to choose between horsepower- who doesn't love options? There are two engine choices; a 2.0-liter that maxes out at 158 hp and a turbocharged 1.5-liter that can go all the way up to 180 hp. Honda adds plenty of standard driver-assistance features that put us at ease, including adaptive cruise control and lane-keeping assist. Surprisingly, not every modern convenience seems to be included as a standard feature yet; the base LX model is equipped with only radio tuning and minor other features. Even so, the Civic proves to be a great choice for most buyers no matter the model.

Adding a multi-angle rearview camera and Honda LaneBoundary lane departure assistance to this Honda Civic makes it unbeatable when it comes to safety.
