

Appraiser Blog

Top 10 Most Reliable SUVs of 2023 So Far

By Tony Rached

Top 10 Most Reliable SUVs of 2023 So Far

Wednesday, February 22, 2023

Whether you have a pickup truck, a commercial truck, an SUV, or a sports car, you want it to work when you need it. In this article, we present the top 10 most reliable SUVs on the market today.

10. 2023 Chevrolet Trailblazer

With its spacious cabin, easy-to-use technology, and fuel-efficient engines, the Trailblazer kicks off our list of the most affordable SUVs of 2023.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 86/100 | Overall Score: 7.8/10

9. 2023 Toyota 4Runner

As a result of its low-fi technology, the 4Runner always works, and it comes with real buttons and dials rather than a touchscreen menu that hides key controls. The 4Runner is designed to master the trail, so it has a robust construction inside and out.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 87/100 | Overall Score: 7.0/10

8. 2023 Ford Bronco Sport

Despite its small size, the Ford Bronco Sport delivers a spacious cabin with plenty of headroom and visibility, being a relative newcomer in the compact SUV segment.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 87/100 | Overall Score: 8.3/10

7. 2023 Kia Soul

Kia Soul is a funky, head-turning box with a combination of style and functionality. Its tall design allows for plenty of headroom, good visibility for the driver, and 62.1 cubic feet of cargo space.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 87/100 | Overall Score: 8.5/10

6. 2023 Kia Sportage

Kia has completely redesigned its Sportage for the 2023 model year. Although we've mentioned that age breeds reliability, there are sometimes examples of newer vehicles with excellent predicted reliability.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 88/100 | Overall Score: 8.1/10

5. 2023 Lincoln Nautilus

With its plush cabin, the Lincoln Nautilus offers plenty of creature comforts, great passenger space, and 68.8 cubic feet of cargo volume.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 88/100 | Overall Score: 8.4/10

4. 2023 Kia Sportage Hybrid

As part of the redesign of the Sportage, Kia has introduced an all-new hybrid variant. It shares underpinnings and a powertrain with the Hyundai Tucson Hybrid, and shared engineering often breeds reliability.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 88/100 | Overall Score: 8.7/10

3. 2023 Chevrolet Equinox

In addition to providing plenty of second-row legroom and up to 63.9 cubic feet of cargo space, the Chevrolet Equinox offers excellent predicted reliability scores. Power liftgates can only be had with the LT trim and Convenience Package. With the Premier, you get a hands-free power liftgate.

Reliability Score: 90/100 | Overall Score: 7.5/10

2. 2023 Nissan Murano

The Murano has two rows of adult-friendly seating, in contrast to many midsize SUVs that focus on three rows of family-hauling versatility. The ride quality is comfortable, complementing the luxurious interior.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 90/100 | Overall Score: 7.6/10

1. 2023 Buick Encore GX

The Encore GX has ranked at the top of our most reliable SUV list thanks to its spacious cabin, quality powertrain, and high fuel economy estimates.

J.D. Power Reliability Score: 90/100 | Overall Score: 8.0/10