The 2019 Kia Sorento is a versatile midsize SUV that caters to families in search of the perfect balance between space and maneuverability. Positioned between Kia's Sportage and Telluride models, the Sorento impresses with its standard third-row seating, accommodating up to seven passengers. While its medium size allows for easy navigation on tight roads, the limited space in the back makes the third row more suitable for young children.

The Sorento offers a wide array of trim levels, ranging from budget-friendly to luxurious options, ensuring there's a configuration to suit most families. Opting for the base four-cylinder engine saves money, but the available V6 delivers better acceleration, especially with the eight-speed automatic transmission, improving responsiveness and fuel economy.

With a multitude of variations, the Sorento caters to diverse needs. It features standard Android Auto and Apple CarPlay support, bolstering its appeal. Additionally, the Sorento boasts one of the longest warranties in its class, providing peace of mind for owners.

The Sorento truly shines when it comes to the array of choices available to suit your preferences. Whether you prioritize capability, convenience, or comfort, this SUV has a variant that will meet your needs perfectly. With seating for up to seven passengers, a range of engine options to choose from, and the availability of both front- and all-wheel drive, the Sorento offers unparalleled versatility to cater to every taste and purpose. However, the crown jewel among them is undoubtedly the top-spec SX Limited trim level, which stands head and shoulders above the rest with its remarkable list of standard features, rivaling the impressive wingspan of Giannis Antetokounmpo.
